

PRESS RELEASE

Americana Safety Wins Business Excellence Award

Las Vegas, NV – October 8, 2015. Americana Safety was nominated for and won the prestigious 2015 Business Excellence Award presented by the Las Vegas Metro Chamber of Commerce.

More than 500 guests, including presidents and CEO's of major corporations, gathered in the ballroom of the Aria Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas, NV, for the annual business excellence awards luncheon and awards ceremony.

Americana Safety won in the Pacesetters category. This category is for businesses which exemplify leadership, foresight, guidance, originality and empowerment. Accepting for Americana Safety was its president and CEO, Dr. Joseph DeMaria. Dr. DeMaria was also presented with Senatorial Recognition certificates from both Nevada senators, Harry Reid and Dean Heller.

Americana Safety was founded in 1996 as a one-man safety consulting firm and is a U.S. veteran-owned business. Since its inception, it has grown to more than 26 associates with office locations in 15 states. Under a distinctive consulting model, the company has brought together health & safety and engineering professionals from 30 specialty practice areas to give clients a wealth of resources to protect the welfare of their business and employees.

Americana Safety has been fortunate to have been retained by many of the nation's top law firms to represent many of their Fortune 500 clients to provide court-qualified expert witnesses to defend their client's claims.

Americana Safety also has a software division, Americana Safety Software, that was specifically developed to provide public and private clients with required safety plans, programs and employee training courses to ensure regulatory compliance and a safer workplace culture for their employees.

With more than 180 software products and over 500 safety videos, Americana Safety Software has been recognized as the foremost safety compliance resource to businesses and government entities in the nation.
