Global Companies Consult With Americana Safety

Las Vegas, NV, September 11, 2015. Americana Safety was awarded safety compliance consulting contracts with two global companies after acquisitions of their manufacturing companies in the United States.

Gemalto, headquartered in Amsterdam, The Netherlands, acquired Source One Direct in Atlanta, GA. This location provides secure personalization services for payment cards addressing credit and debit card issuers in the United States. It is also the world's largest manufacturer of SIM cards.

Following this acquisition, Americana Safety's Atlanta, GA office, led by its associate, Ronald R. McHaney, CSP, was contracted by Gemalto to perform a thorough workplace safety compliance audit at this high security credit and debit card manufacturing facility.

Scientific Games, a leading innovator in the global lottery and regulated gaming industries has more than 300 customers on six continents. In 2014, Scientific Games acquired Bally Technologies, a world-wide technology-based gaming machine and device manufacturer.

Americana Safety's Las Vegas, NV office, led by its president & CEO, Joseph DeMaria, Ph.D. and its associate Samuel A. Lybarger, CSP, was contracted to perform a comprehensive occupational health & safety audit of their gaming-regulated manufacturing facilities.

Americana Safety appreciates the trust and confidence these global companies have in our capabilities.
